WHY DON'T FLORIDIANS FERTILIZE IN SUMMER?

During Florida's rainy season, fertilizers run off before getting a chance to be used by plants. It's not only a waste of money, it runs into our springs, rivers, lakes and other waterways, contributing to algal blooms and slimy springs.

Skipping the fertilizer this summer is the best individual action you can take to protect our waterways. It's not just a good idea. In many counties, it's law.
